

show #12

Information

The exhibition 'maps & orientations part 2' is set off by the event with an anti aircraft search light vehicle that took place December 19th, 2012.

The backdrop for this vehicle, a military vehicle from 1974, consists of the illumination of a special date, the 12th of December, 1974

At that day a satellite was shot into orbit. The noteworthiness:
It was the first news satellite of Europe and the result of a historical collaboration named 'Symphony' between Germany and France.

The works which the participating artists are showing in that particular context are on view at Münzsalon a historical place by its own means. Most of the artists produced new works however a few were selected by the artist from their own body of work.

The show is not a 'curated' show but an aperture into the work process of the artists.

heldart invites you to the opening tuesday the 12th of February from 7 – 10 pm at Münzsalon.
